

THE MORNING POST.

MONDAY, FEBRUARY 24, 1834.

NOTICE.—An adjourned meeting of the WASHINGTON SOCIETY, for the choice of Officers, will be held at DEMOCRATIC HALL, at 7 o'clock, THIS EVENING.

CHARLES G. GREENE, Pres't.

Figure Head.—We learn that by order of the Navy Department, the cut-water of the U. S. Frigate Constitution, (a ship dear to every American,) now repairing at the Navy Yard in Charlestown, is to be surmounted with a colossal figure of Andrew Jackson. The work is to be executed by Laban S. Beecher, of this city, and is already in a state of forwardness. It will represent the General dressed in his ordinary riding cloak, holding his hat and cane in one hand, in the other a scroll of the Constitution.—Mercantile Journal.

We copy the above for the purpose of correcting an error, and to append a statement relative to the repair of the Constitution.—Some time since, during Mr Secretary Branch's administration of the Navy Department, he reported to President Jackson, that the Constitution could not be repaired, and must be broken up. Gen. Jackson, knowing the patriotic recollections associated with the name and fame of old "Ironsides," promptly said, as he did of the Federal Union, on another occasion, "THE CONSTITUTION MUST BE PRESERVED;" and directed that she should be thoroughly repaired, and restored as nearly as possible to her original model. The repairs now making are in obedience to these orders. The ornaments put upon the ship, are not by the order of the Navy Department, but by the order of the Commandant of the Navy Yard. The old figure-head was originally a colossal wooden figure of a man—after that, a common billet head was substituted. In ornamenting her anew, the Commandant of the Yard, that brave and excellent officer, the gallant Commodore Eliot, has ordered the stern to be decorated with the likenesses of her former brave commanders, HULL, BAINBRIDGE and STEWART, and the bows, with the figure of Gen. JACKSON the Commander of the Army and Navy of the United States, in the act of giving his positive order for her preservation. Nothing could be more appropriate, and none more popular throughout the Union, we are sure.

The inflammatory placard, relative to this matter, posted up in the city on Saturday, and copied into the Boston Transcript and Evening Gazette, is the offspring of some poor drivelier, who dare not own his name, or avow the authorship, and is condemned by all the decent part of the opposition.

From the Washington U. S. Bank Intelligencer. Of the vote, on the call for the previous question, the Intelligencer remarks— "The decision decides nothing, but that the House is tired of the debate, and does not choose to instruct the Committee of Ways and Means to report a bill or resolution, directing the restoration of the Public Deposits, before they shall have made a report upon the subject. But even thus much has been gained by the friends of the measure of removal, in the fullest House which ever sat under this Government, by a majority of four votes only. Had the vacant seats been full, it is very probable that even this majority would have been converted into a minority."

We had supposed that the vote on the reference, and not on the previous question, was the test vote. Some who voted against the previous question, which is a vote to stop debate, wanted to speak upon the subject themselves—others are opposed, from principle, to stifling debate in this way. The state of the case is this—the Secretary's report of his reasons for removing the deposits, was made to Congress, and the opposition, taking the friends of the administration by surprise, referred it to the Committee of the Whole House on the State of the Union; a few days after, the friends of the Administration moved to reconsider the vote by which it was referred to the Committee of the Whole, and to refer it to the Committee of Ways and Means. The vote to reconsider, passed by about 30 majority, if we rightly remember; but on the question to refer it to the Committee of Ways and Means, the opposition brought to bear all their power, and all their arts, tricks and contrivances, to retard the progress of the question; and now, after a debate of about seventy days, after the Bank has screwed to its utmost—after all the fac simile, Biddle meetings—the vote to refer it to the Committee of Ways and Means, stands 130 to 98, or 32 majority. This is the test vote, and the view taken above by the Bank Intelligencer will impose upon none but its friends. It is as fallacious as the "great reaction," so often foretold by that paper and its kindred prints. If the opposition are such gudgeons as to believe the Intelligencer—to swallow, constantly, the most absurd and erroneous statements, and insist on their being true, we have no objection; it will be but treading in the path they have trodden for years, and will end, as all their political labors usually end, in miserable disappointment.

The papers from the South, brought by the mail last evening, contain no news. The Journal of Commerce announces the arrival below, of the ship New York, Capt Hoxie, with dates to the 8th, the same as received here on Saturday by the Liverpool. Capt. Hoxie refused to deliver his papers up to the editors, for the very singular reason, that they "were so much later," than the dates previously received at New York.

"REIS EFFENDI," No. 68, will be found on the First Page.

A letter from a gentleman of intelligence, dated at Utica, 14th inst. says—"I have made myself acquainted with the Banks here, and I have also visited several of those farther west. I find that they are all perfectly easy, and daily accumulating funds, and would discount freely but for the general want of confidence which prevails at this moment."—N.Y.J. Com.

LATEST FROM EUROPE.

By the arrival of the ship Liverpool, Capt. Barstow, on Saturday morning, from Liverpool, English papers to Jan. 8, have been received, from which we have extracted such articles as appear to be most important.

The insurgents continued to keep up a guerilla warfare in Spain. A general sweep of the provinces by the Queen's forces appears to be in contemplation.

The French Minister has ordered 2000 infantry to be organized for service in the western departments, the Chouans having become troublesome.

According to an account from the Augsburg Gazette of the 27th Dec. the King of Naples persists in not acknowledging the rights of Donna Isabella to the crown of Spain.

Sixty-two American vessels arrived at St Petersburg during the navigation of 1833.

The Indigo market continued firm Jan. 6th. The last East India House sale was from 4s 8d a 5s 6d a lb.

Consols for Account, at London, Jan. 7, 90 3/8.

The Pontifical Government is said to have forbidden the Clergy of the national Portuguese church in Rome to pray for Donna Maria.

M. Dupin has been elected President of the French Chamber of Deputies by 220 votes out of 223.

The Belgian papers announce that several couriers had arrived at the Hague from St Petersburg—all announce the armistice that are making in the ports of the Black Sea—all speak of the astonishing activity in the department of foreign affairs in the capital of Russia.

Holland.—The Minister of War being pressed upon the question of keeping up the Militia, declared that the difference with Belgium would be terminated by a treaty in the course of the present year.

Turkey.—The return of Edhem Effendi at Constantinople from Alexandria, attracted general attention. He is the bearer of a present of 5,000,000 Turkish Pistars, and the Convention respecting the tribute to be annually paid by the Viceroy of Egypt. As further proof of the prevalence of Russia, the son of the Emperor's Consul General in London was in Constantinople either to effect a loan for Turkey, or to adjust the pecuniary claims respecting Greece.

The Emperor of Russia has published a Ukase prohibiting the establishment of schools without being informed of their necessity—and demands the strictest vigilance to be observed over all scholastic establishments in his dominions.

Liverpool Cotton Market, Jan. 6.—There was a very fair demand for cotton in the early part of the week, but since the usual account of the stock taken at this period has been made public, there has scarcely been any thing done, and prices have receded 1-8d per lb. The quantity of cotton held in the ports is 180,000—against 198,000 bales at the close of 1832. Although 30,000 bales less than then, it is still more than was anticipated. New Orleans 8 5-8 to 10 1-2d—Mobile 7 3-8 to 8 3-4.

Horrid Murder.—Hannah Callahan, the wife of an Irishman named Patrick Callahan, was found dead in her bed, on Sunday evening last, in the borough of Wilmington, Del. There appeared but little doubt, from the condition in which she was found, that she was murdered and that her husband was the murderer. On examination of the body, it was found to be in a dreadful condition; her head was much bruised, as if it had been beaten upon by a heavy bludgeon—on her neck was distinctly seen the impression of finger nails, her face much swollen and black, her eyes nearly forced out of the head, and from all appearances, it was evident that she had been strangled. Her clothes were much torn and bloody, which proved clearly that she must have struggled hard with the bloody monster, for her life. Callahan attempted to prove that his wife had killed herself by knocking her head against the wall in a state of intoxication; but his story was deemed utterly improbable, and he was committed to prison, where he awaits his trial.—Phil. Intell.

Fire prevented by "Sparkling."—A serious conflagration was avoided on Tuesday night last, in this place, by a circumstance which must be told for the information of cross-grained fathers and mothers, who drive away "sparks" too early in the evening. We have it from authority not to be doubted, that the utter destruction of an extensive chair manufactory was prevented by a young gentleman who was about taking leave of the "apple of his eye;" he discovered a small flame creeping among the paints and other combustible materials of the establishment, just in time, (with some assistance we believe) to extinguish it. Ten minutes longer, and a portion of our village would have been lit with desolating flames. We mention the fact for two reasons: first—it is the only time in our lives that we ever heard of any actual good derived from "late sparkling;" and second, we are sadly mistaken in the gallantry of the President of the Railway Insurance Company, if he does not, on the "bridal day" of the parties, present them with something commemorative, of an event, which saved a youthful institution the sorrow of having a considerable hole burnt in its Treasury.—The buildings were insured in the Railway office, which as yet, has met with no losses.—Railway Advocate.

Wonderful Snake Story.—A story was put forth some days since by the New York Sun, setting forth that a sailor by the name Frederick Williams, boarding in Essex street, had had a black snake, 4 feet 5 inches long, taken, or rather coaxed out of his stomach, and that it had been preserved by the physician in attendance, as a wonderful curiosity. All the circumstances of the case were given with much minuteness. The statement has already been copied into several papers, and will probably go all over the United States. It has formed, we are told, a standing topic of conversation in certain circles, and has been gaped at by the lovers of the marvellous, from one end of the city to the other. It is a pity to spoil so good a story, but nevertheless, it is all a hoax.—N. Y. Jour. of Com.

Washington, Feb. 18.—Brigadier General Leavenworth, of the U. S. Army, is at present on a visit to this city, from his command on the south-western frontier. Major General Scott, whose arrival we have already mentioned, is on his way from a visit to his native State to his station in New York.

New York Savings Bank.—It appears from the report of this Institution just published, that the amount of the deposits in 1833 was $1,155,098 33, and the number of deposits 20,015. The amount drawn out during the year was $912,472 25, by 11,493 drafts. Of the whole number of deposits, 5027 were by new depositors.

New Theatre.—A new Theatre has just been completed at Utica, N. Y.

Mr Wirt's funeral took place on Thursday, and was attended by the authorities generally.

POLICE COURT.

Saturday.

Mr JUSTICE SIMMONS announced the appointment of the Hon. James C. Merrill, (present) as one of the Associate Justices of the Police Court, in the place of Justice Whitman, resigned—and directed the Clerk to read his commission, and make a record of his induction into office. Mr Merrill then retired to the Justices' Court, where he entered upon his official duties, in the trial of civil causes.

On to the Rescue.—Alice Perkins was arraigned for committing an assault on Veteran Reid, while executing a warrant on one John Torpay, for stealing a wallet, containing about $125, from Mr William G. Rogers.—Mr Reid took his station in a neighboring store, while Mr Rogers went into a cellar in Broad street, to decoy Torpay into his man-trap. Torpay took the bait, and as soon as he got into the store, Reid informed him, with his usual politeness, of his business, upon which he affected to be highly indignant at Rogers for suspecting him of being a thief, and threatened him with a counter prosecution. In the meantime, Alice Perkins came in, and, after reconnoitering, stepped up to Torpay, gave him a pass-word in Irish, and went out.—Reid was "pretty sartin it was Irish lingo, because it warnt at all naterl that she understood Greek or Latin, as she could hardly talk English." The counsel for the defendant did not consider the Veteran's conclusion a necessary one, but was willing to waive the point. The worthy counsel probably forgot that constables' conclusions are like their constructions of law, untrammelled by distinctions, with or without difference.

In a short time the woman returned to the store, at the head of a little regiment of her countrymen, and exchanged another "shibboleth" with Torpay, who instantly gave a spring, to break from Reid, who was then searching him, and in fact had his hand upon the stolen wallet, inside the lining of his jacket. Reid caught him by the neck-cloth, and Torpay, in twisting round to get clear, was nearly choked. Upon this, Mrs Perkins raised a horrid yell, that "Ould Reid was chawkin the puir innocent." The corps de reserve then pressed close upon the struggling pair; and soon Reid's arms were pinned. Mrs Perkins led the assailants on, and flew around the scene of action, like an aid-de-camp, and planted a clip wherever she saw a chance, till the lucky thought occurred to her of unmasking her ivory battery, when she speedily scaled Reid's knuckles with such a hungry bite, that he "verily believed she had had nothing to eat before for 24 hours." It is hardly necessary to say that upon this hint, Reid let go his hold, and that Torpay bolted off, amidst the cheers of his countrymen, and has not been heard of since. Reid's statement was confirmed by Mr Rogers, in every particular, excepting that the latter did not feel the bite.

To rebut this testimony, Mrs Perkins introduced four of the men who were at the rescue. Their credibility was very accurately characterised by Reid, when he said, "they would swear the legs off from an iron pot." They were all "after being prisint at that same time and never a bit saw Mrs Perkins nearer till Mr Rade nor sax fut." One said Torpay was "chawked till he was pale;" another, that Torpay was "black, by Rade's houldin on til him." The Court, not having jurisdiction of the case, did not attempt to reconcile the trifling discrepancies in the testimony, but bound Mrs Alice Perkins over for trial, in the sum of $50. She is a pretty clever looking woman, and it would have been of more advantage to the community, if some of the men who assisted in the rescue, could have been apprehended, identified, and brought to condign punishment for this violent outrage upon the law, than to have proceeded against her. This prosecution, however, may have a salutary effect.

Splitting the difference.—Phabe Kelly admitted that she was subject to attacks of the alcoholic fever; that once in about six months, she would have quite a severe spell, which she could not help, though she was very sorry for it, and would be very glad if the court could suggest some means to restore her to her health and senses. The Magistrate intimated that the joint efforts of the court, and the keeper of the House of Correction, for two months, were at her service in the accomplishment of so desirable an object. Phabe, however, thought that she had better try one month first, but the court persuaded her into a compromise, by splitting the difference, and giving her a permit for six weeks.

Anticipating News.—The Advocate of Saturday morning contains a paragraph, about a "Mrs Seeley, committed for trial at the Municipal Court" excised from our Police news, with the mysterious sign "Trans." appended to it, which may be intended to signify transplanted. It cannot mean "Transcript," because the little straggler did not find its way into that paper until Saturday evening, when it lost its head and some of its body, in edging in between two other fugitives, and the Transcript very properly thought it unworthy, in its mutilated shape, of so respectable an addition as a "Post" for a tail. The lady referred to, however, has fared even worse than our little pet about her; for a correspondent, in the Mercantile Journal of Friday, banished her to New Hampshire, and was very sure she "would not trouble Boston again for one year."

Roxbury Hotel.—We are requested by a member of the "Veteran Ball," who met at Mr Amos Fisher's, in Roxbury, on Thursday evening, to say that the accommodations, supper, and music, on that occasion, were superior to any thing of the kind, that ever came within his knowledge, although he has been a tavern-keeper upwards of 15 years. Our informant, an inhabitant of another town, said he could not rest till he saw the "glory of the Roxbury House in print."

CONGRESS.

Wednesday, Feb. 19.—In Senate.—A message was received from the President, by Mr Donnellson, his private Secretary.

Mr Wilkins resumed and concluded his remarks on the Removal of the Deposits, in support of the Secretary's reasons. Mr Tyler took the floor next.

Mr Clay presented the memorial of sundry citizens of New York, praying for an extension of time for payment of revenue bonds, which was referred to the Committee on Finance.

In the House, the resolution submitted on the 14th ult. by Mr Mardis, of Alabama, was taken up—and during his remarks was broken off by the expiration of the hour assigned to the consideration and the orders of the day.

The bill to provide for the payment of certain revolutionary claims, was postponed, on the question of its final passage.

The bill to render more permanent the mode for supplying the Army of the U. States, was taken up for a third reading—and a motion to re-commit the bill to the Committee on Military Affairs, prevailed.

The bill making appropriations for certain fortifications for 1835, was taken up—and the question being, shall this bill pass? When after considerable debate in favor and against re-commitment (in which Mr Gorham and Everett took part,) without coming to a decision, the House adjourned.

On Thursday, both Houses of Congress adjourned without transacting any business, in order to attend the funeral of Mr WIRT.

MASSACHUSETTS LEGISLATURE.

Saturday, 22.—In the Senate.—Memorial of J. Haskell and others, for an office for the inspection of hops in the town of Worcester.

Committee ordered to inquire into the expediency of exempting Farmers and Mechanics from military duty.

Bill concerning unlawful oaths was taken up and further consideration assigned to Tuesday next—ordered to be printed.

Passed to be engrossed—resolve granting county taxes—bill concerning rate of toll on 8th Massachusetts turnpike—bill relating to engine men—resolve on petition of R. S. Fay—bill to incorporate Davis Manufacturing Company—authorizing erection of bridge over Mill river, on petition of C. Taber—to incorporate Boston and Bangor Steamboat Company—to incorporate Nichawag Manufacturing Company.

In the House.—Petition of E. Phelps and 48 others of Marlboro', for alteration of militia laws—of T. Clark and 91 others of Southamp-ton, of J. Nelson and 126 others of Leicester, of J. Greene and 65 others of Clapville, of F. Bowman and 150 others of Cambridge, severally on the license laws—of H. T. Skinner for a change of name.

Messrs Gifford of Westfield, Cary of N. Brookfield, and Chandler of Lowell, had leave of absence.

Passed to be engrossed, bill to incorporate Boston Female Society for promoting Christianity among the Jews—Berkshire manual labor high school—Hoosac River Manufacturing Company—to establish Fire Department in Salem—the Douglas Axe Factory—the Taunton Market House Company—to authorize S. Crowell to erect piers in Bass river—to establish dividing line between town of Richmond and West Stockbridge—to incorporate Blumfield Iron Manufactory.

Bill relating to destruction of crows was read twice and indefinitely postponed.

Ithaca and Oswego Railroad.—Thirteen miles of this road has already been opened for travel and transportation; and by next spring it is confidently expected, the whole line to Oswego will be completed.

M. Gour, formerly a dancing master at Montpelier, now 80 years of age, has been sentenced to 10 years solitary confinement for the murder of his wife, arising from jealousy, she at the time of the murder being 66.

Pleasures of Love.—An individual by the name of Love has been fined at Rochester, for indulging too freely his pugnacious disposition towards his fair dame.

Camporese was a gentleman in mind and in manner, but still unable to resist at all times the insolence to which her situation exposed her. At a rehearsal of 'Pietro l'Ermito,' she commenced the exquisite quartet 'Mi manco la voce,' (my voice fails me.) 'E vero,' (it is true) whispered Madame Ronzi, but loud enough for the bystanders to hear, which Camporese instantly chastised by a box on the ear.—New Monthly Magazine.

There has been a great riot at Cambridge in consequence of the dead body of a pauper having been dug up for dissection. The anatomical school was broken in upon, and the cases and specimens destroyed; but the mob was quelled by the authorities and gowms-men, and the body given up—without any new subjects for dissection being left on the ground—though several were knocked down.

The general sentiment in Belgium, as well as France, is loudly in favor of free trade and against monopolies. The silk manufacturers of Lyons, and the wine-growers in the south of France, take the lead in these sound and liberal views of political economy.

Heath's Book of Beauty, for 1834, with numerous female portraits, is edited by the Countess of Blessington, who has, it appears, regularly turned author.

Among other new London works, we perceive one, in two volumes, entitled "Traditional Stories of Old Families."

Hook's new novel is entitled "Love and Pride."

MARRIED.

In this city, Orlando Whitney to Mary Ann Carlton.

In Hingham, Reuben P Griffin, of Boston, to Sally C Hersey.
